Journaling with Think Through Math

Helping students to better communicate about mathematical ideas is essential to success with the new TEKS. The use of a math journal in conjunction with TTM provides additional opportunities for students to both build their conceptual understanding of mathematics as well as their ability to effectively communicate that understanding. This session helps teachers understand the power of math journaling along with providing several easy to implement strategies.

- Discuss the connection between increased standards, computer-based testing, and the need for math journaling
- Learn about various journaling techniques
